AT WARTBURG 29 YEARS,

Hiltner Bids 'Auf Wiedersehen'

By Joan Pape

After 29 years of service to the college, one of Wartburg's most colorful professors will soon be leaving the campus.

Teacher of Latin, philosophy and Christianity, Dr. John Hiltner plans to depart from the teaching profession to take on other duties in the service of the church.

"I am not retiring from life," said Dr. Hiltner, "but rather I am returning to my first love — work in the congregation."

Dr. Hiltner, who came to this country from his native Germany fifty years ago to preach in German-speaking communities in Kansas and Nebraska, will return to his earlier calling this summer when he takes on the duties of "supply" pastor at a church in Greeley, Colo.

He will be working with the Rev. Richard Bunge, a former student of his, at Our Savior's Lutheran Church, one of the larger churches in Greeley.

Concerning the history of his life at Wartburg, Dr. Hiltner stated, "I first came here in 1930 when Wartburg was only a junior college. In 1933 the church closed the school here and we were moved to Wartburg at Clinton.

"Then in 1935 the church changed its mind again and moved Wartburg back to Waverly. We have been here ever since."

By being in on the early establishment of the present

HILTNER AT home for a little while, then on to Colorado for a new, but still active, life.

college, the Hiltners went through the difficult years of the school's first growth.

Said Dr. Hiltner, "By 1937 I had enough faith in Wartburg at Waverly to build a house. I was the first member of the faculty to build — this was my expression of confidence."

When Dr. Hiltner leaves Wartburg for Greeley in the last week of June, he will continue what has been one of his main sidelines here by taking up the supervision of parish education in the church.

"In addition to supervising the Sunday School I will probably do some work among the Lutheran students at Colorado State Teachers College in Greeley," he said.

"We have become part of Waverly," Dr. Hiltner continued, "and we have many friends here. But we don't say good-by to anybody, for we are continuing our work and our life, only in another community."

Six Of Seven Awards Will Be Given To Wartburg Poets For Iowa Contest

Wartburg students won six out of seven places in the Iowa Poetry Day Association contest, as announced recently by Mrs. Margaret Garland, English and Journalism Department.

Out of the eight colleges entered in the College Division of the contest, Wartburg had the most entries.

Winning first place was freshman Dick Mulvey with a poem entitled "The Greatest Victory." "Soliloquy" by Clifford Joens, also a freshman, won second place.

Honorable mentions were won by four more Wartburg students. They are Stephen Van Guilder, junior, "Petal of Knowledge," first honorable mention; Roger Kampstra, junior, "Restored Grace," second honorable mention; Jean Semmler, freshman, "Musician's Tool," third honorable mention; and Steen Tofte, sophomore, "Indian Summer," fourth honorable mention.

All winners were awarded certificates by Mrs. Gladys Pagel, appointed poet-laureate of Iowa by Governor Herschel Loveless. The first-place winner also received a copy of Mrs. Pagel's poems, entitled "Daydreams."

Judging the contest was Dr. Etta Josephine Murfey of Florida.

Fortress, Castle Add Three Heads

Three new editorial staff members were added to the "Fortress" and "The Castle" recently as approved by the Publications Committee.

Frederich Ohlrogge, sophomore from Marion, Wis., has been appointed associate editor of the year-book.

Carolyn Boebel, freshman from Danforth, Ill., will serve as business manager for the literary magazine. Acting as associate editor will be freshman John Loesch from Royal, Ill.

Abramson To Resume Teaching Duties Here

On leave of absence for two years, Miss Jean Abramson, Music Department, will return for the fall term to resume teaching duties.

After completing her work at the Eastman School of Music, Abramson hopes to receive a Doctor of Musical Arts degree in Performance and Pedagogy in August.

Library Will Be Dedicated Thursday

The Homuth Memorial Library will be dedicated Thursday at 10:30 a.m. Right now the library staff is in the process of getting settled and situated for this event, according to librarian Miss Perna Lohn.

The dedication ceremonies will begin Thursday morning in Knights Gymnasium with an academic procession. This will be followed by an address by Mr. Virgil Hancher, president of the University of Iowa.

H. D. To Mrs. Covey

Then an honorary degree will be conferred upon Mrs. Lois Lenski Covey for her vast contribution to children's literature.

After these exercises in the gymnasium the formal dedication will take place on the library entrance, weather permitting. Next on the schedule is an invitational luncheon in conjunction with the alumni luncheon.

House Will Be Open

Open house will be held in the library until 5:30 p.m. that afternoon. All students are cordially invited to attend these dedication ceremonies.

With respect to the library moving day held last week, Miss Lohn expressed appreciation to the students and faculty for their co-operation and assistance in helping to transfer the books to the new library.

Being truly pleased with the students' patience in the present problems of adjustment, she stated, "Their expressions of satisfaction are most gratifying and more than repay all those who have done work for the new library."

There's Musing In The Air

"Shall we join in a chorus of the ol' swan song? Come, seniors, grads and anyone else who is leaving. Does anyone know the tune? You can start, Dr. Hiltner, you've been here the longest.

"Well, I've forgotten the words, as a matter of fact. Didn't know there were any words, really. Nobody likes all that speeches and stuff unless it's funny." ETCETERA, ETCETERA, ETCETERA (thus spake Yul Brynner).

How do we compose our repartees for diploma-wrapped college careers, nearly completed? Is it necessary to express ourselves on the subject? How would you express your feelings herein after finding your name on the graduation list and trying on a robe and mortarboard that does fit after all?

There is talk of the "tassel-dazzled" at this time of the year. The old guard, the faculty, have a few mirthful moments, no doubt, about how life will feel like a cold storm compared to the placid weather of a college climate.

It must, then, be time to put our academic insulators on, to take what they have been trying to teach us for two or four years and try to apply it in this big free-for-all they call life.

It's a strange recipe at that: you take a hundred or more pounds of high school graduate, add a dash of orientation, a mixture of dry and wet textbooks, some canned and fresh lectures (well tested), a little extra-curricular and stir well for at least 128 hours.

NOTE: The mixture may fall, may come out half-baked, burnt or just right, but in most cases, you wrap warm before it cools with a waxed diploma and ship it out, ready to serve.

We dare not pursue this analogy too far, or we will come face to face with the proposition that we are consumed, and no one wants to believe that. In any event, whether we stay fresh or become stale and unused, we face the reality that we are only a few among many and that our success, if it be as a commodity or an entity, depends upon our attraction.

Graduation is the frosting for our little cakes, and to the tune of particular swan songs, we commence our little cake walk into the outer-fringes of vocational reality.

So, whether you say "Thanks," or "Thanks for nothing," you will become another face in the annual soon, and only the alumni association will pursue you. This is a hard, but good lesson in itself — we are expendable.

Praise it with harps and singing, muted smiles or brave goodbyes — it all adds up to the same old refrain, "I guess I'll miss the old place after all."

Solems Know Loss

Members of Wartburg College were saddened this week to hear of the sudden death of Elmo O. Solem, father of graduating senior John Solem. It was learned Wednesday that the elder Solem had drowned while fishing at a lake near his home in St. Paul, Minn.

Both John and his wife, the former Gloria Wicbe, have been called to Minnesota to attend funeral services. May God comfort the bereaved.

Knight Life

By Don Claggett

Final exams this week and so another school year draws to a close. Year's end and we too pause for a moment spent in retrospect.

It seems as if just yesterday we were writing the first column and seeking a replacement for Dale Duel in the channel switching department.

Remember Sept. 20, the day when right in the middle of the hula-hoop craze Wartburg tied Luther to set up the drive for the Iowa Conference Championship?

Yes, time does seem to fly — even Neva Miller's gupplies have passed to the other shore.

Time changes things too — Oct. 11 the World Series started; now the Yankees are in a different situation, and even Dick Chellevold looks a little pale these days.

Nov. 16 was the "morning after the night before," but remember the night before when 78 cars lined up for the parade back from Cedar Falls with the IC champs leading the line. What a team! Yaaaga Yaaaga!

Soon it was Christmas — Cotta wanted an icebox, and Ketha wanted a shower. Neither house got what it wanted because someone told Santa that they already had enough of the cold wet stuff.

Jan. 18 Wartburg had proved once again to the Iowa Conference that it was a school of champs. You just can't beat the "old doctor," sports fans.

March 21 and Student Body carnival was a resounding success. Everyone came to the affair, even the Ketha house pig was out in her finest attire.

Easter vacation and baseball was in season again. This meant the dawning of Spring and the opening of drive-in movies. College students sure like drive-ins — can't figure out why.

Well, that about brings it up to date. Only thing left to do is say thanks and good-by. Thanks to everyone who has taken the time to read this column each week.

That does it for this year, gang. Have a good summer and come back to the old Wartburg next fall!

Question of the week: So that is landscaping?

Good Knight-Lifing To All

FOOTNOTES TO FAITH

Christian Has What World Can't Offer

By Rex Grove

"... Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have I give thee..." Acts 3:6.

Here we find Peter giving of what he had. A lame man had just asked to be healed. Peter frankly told him that he had no money to give him, but that he would like to share with him what he did possess.

No amount of money could have enabled Peter to make this man walk again. But that which Peter did have could cause the man to be healed.

And to each of us, maybe often, maybe only occasionally, there come those who are struggling under the weight of some burden. Usually it isn't a physical affliction, as Peter was confronted with, but, nevertheless, these people come to the Christian because only there can they find the love, warmth and understanding for which they seek.

Love, warmth and understanding — these qualities can be had only by the Christian who is truly living in a close personal relationship with the One who is the ultimate in each virtue.

The world cannot offer that which Peter possessed. Silver and gold cannot buy that which Peter had. To have what Peter had is to live.

Imagine the disappointment and the emptiness which the lame man would have had if Peter had coldly turned him away. Peter realized, that along with this gift which he possessed came a responsibility to share it with others.

Just what was this powerful thing which Peter had?

It was the belief that life is worth living if it is lived for Christ; it was the desire to share that most precious of all gifts; it was the conviction that what he had was worth sharing.

Along the pathway of each life are found those who are blindly searching for "that which you have." What do you have to offer them?

Fortress, Castle Arrive

Once-a-year days for both the Fortress and Castle occurred during the past week. After a year's work, the Fortress was delivered last Saturday. Student distribution was begun Monday. This year's Castle began to make its rounds Thursday.

Theme Is Shady

Centered around the theme "Long Shadows," the Fortress is dedicated to Dr. E. A. Hovdesven, Music Department. Dr. Hovdesven, who has taught at Wartburg 10 years, directs Castle Singers.

"We are hoping for an All-American," said Fortress Editor Larry Everett. "However, even if we do not attain this aesthetic goal and please the students, we will feel the book is a success."

Castle Contains

This year's Castle contains five short stories, fourteen poems, three sketches, three essays and three book reviews. The pieces were written by Wartburg students and alumnae.

"Although we have had our difficulties, I think we have produced a passable magazine. However, I do feel that much more could be expected as regards good writing from the students," said Bob Mayer, Castle editor.

IN PRESIDENTIAL REALM,

Gavel At Rest For Schwarz

By Linda Mugridge

Giver of convo announcements, rider of the Homecoming horse, proclaimer of Outfly — roll these varied tasks into one ball and you find Jim Schwarz, Student Body president.

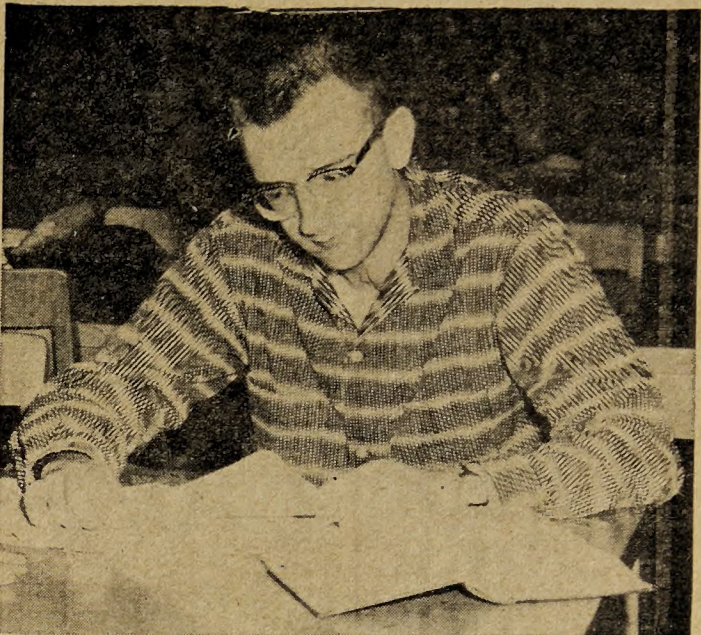

Schwarz, pre-theological senior from Middleton, Wis., spends his class time concentrating on his sociology major. During his college career, he has been on the honor roll four times. He carried 19 hours of classes first semester of this year.

Schwarz spends his free time concentrating on such things as basketball and his girl. Four years of basketball and a letter have earned him a W-Club berth. As far as the girl (junior Bev Johnson of Sterling, Ill.) is concerned, suffice it to say they became engaged last December.

Schwarz spends his remaining time concentrating on student government. In four years at Wartburg, governmental proceedings have occupied much of his time. In addition to serving as a class officer for two years, Schwarz was twice a senator. He also was the 1958 Homecoming chairman.

"My biggest problem is how to use the time I have," commented Schwarz.

"The immediate group with which I have worked in student government, especially the Senate and special chairmen, have been just terrific in carrying out duties assigned to them without constant encouragement and extra work on my part," said Schwarz.

SCHWARZ'S THOUGHTS turn to senior tests this week, far from the maddening rush of prexy chores, but still rushed.

Schwarz feels that the most profound influence of his sojourn as Student Body president has been the beginning of the campus church.

I would like the congregation to be an expression of the Christian faith, to 'come alive,'" he said.

Future plans for the SB prexy include entering Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque. Marriage is scheduled for some time after the 1960 graduation (Bev's schedule).

Next year somebody else will read the convo announcements, ride the Homecoming horse and proclaim Outfly. But the 1958-59 Student Body will remember Jim Schwarz, its chosen leader.

Settling For Show, Teams Host Conference

CHUCK WALLIN shows them how to spin that platter in Saturday's conference meet. Wallin took first place with far toss of 133' 10".

LARRY MUGRIDGE warms up for Iowa Conference Tennis Meet held here last Saturday. Mugridge finished second in the singles play as Wartburg tied for second place.

ULRICH COLUMBUS takes the stick from Harold Oleson for third leg of Mile Relay. Oleson overtook his man to give Knights a good edge, but anchor man Bill Streng couldn't quite catch Dubuque's McGregor, and the Knights had to settle for second.

Knights Ride Fourth In IC Track; Dubuque Catches Luther For Crown

Some 160 athletes competed in the Iowa Conference Track Meet with Wartburg as host last Saturday.

Schools participating were Wartburg, Dubuque, Luther, Simpson, Buena Vista, Central, Iowa Wesleyan, Upper Iowa and Parsons.

Dubuque dethroned Luther as the Iowa Conference Track champion. This was the seventh crown for the Spartans in the last nine years; however Luther had ended a six-year Dubuque reign last year when it took the title.

At the end of the tournament Dubuque led with 68 13/14 points followed by Luther with 46 2/7. Simpson was third with 40 points and Wartburg next with 33 6/7. Buena Vista, Parsons, Central Iowa Wesleyan and Upper Iowa followed respectively.

There was only one record-breaker on Saturday and that was Simpson's Don Cleveland who cleared 6 feet 3 1/2 inches in the high jump to add 1 1/4 inches to the old record of 6 feet 2 1/4 inches.

There were only two double winners. John Hudson of Dubuque was one with a win in the mile run, coming back to take the two-mile, unchallenged.

Charles Fillman of Simpson was the other double-winner in the high and low hurdles.

Wartburg's Chuck Wallin took first place in the discus throw with 133 feet 10 inches.

Dixon Zander and Andy Polis tied for second in the pole-vault at 11 feet 6 inches. They also tied the school record of 11' 6" set by Coach Bob Campbell in his Knight days.

Wartburg's mile relay team made a nice attempt at the string, with Bill Streng just inches from catching Dubuque's Brian McGregor at the finish line.

This year's lettermen at Wartburg are as follows:

Knights Clip TC In Final

Wartburg's baseball squad completed its season in fine fashion, clipping once-beaten Iowa State Teachers College 6-3 Wednesday.

The win left the Oppiemmen with a 10-7 season mark, and gained revenge for an earlier 3-1 loss to the Panthers here last Monday.

In Wednesday's encounter the Oppiemmen capitalized on two errors, a walk, a single and a home run by Fred Mai to pick up four runs in the third. Marv Ott homered in the fifth and Fritz made the round trip in the eighth to account for the rest of Wartburg's scoring.

ISTC tallied once in the first and twice in the seventh on a home run, two walks, a single and an error. Ott was the winning pitcher and Dolan the loser. Both pitchers fanned eight while Dolan walked four to Ott's three.

In the first contest ISTC tallied once in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings to down the Knights with three runs on seven hits. Dar Fritz scored the only run for Wartburg as he tripled in the second inning and scored as Terry Exner grounded to second.
